This study showed that PHC can be considered a strategic health facility since it is able to provide earlier ART initiation, also playing a crucial role on HIV response. Hence, PHC can scale up PLWHIV access to care and to ART initiation. Furthermore, these results also reinforce the need of comprehensive and multi-sectorial health policies for low-middle income countries.